

Photography & Video

One of the joys of our festival is the sense of community that develops through workshops, jams, concerts, and shared meals. We like to capture some of these moments to celebrate the festival and to help future participants see what our gathering is like.

Throughout the festival, designated festival volunteers may take photographs or short videos for use in future festival publications, our website, social media, and promotional materials.

We understand that not everyone is comfortable being photographed. If you prefer not to appear in official festival photos or videos, please let us know at the Friday Check-In desk. We will provide a small red sticker to put on your name badge, which our photographers have been asked to recognize and respect.

Our photographers will:

- Ask permission before taking close-up or posed photographs of individuals or small groups.
- Respect anyone who indicates they do not wish to be photographed.
- Make every reasonable effort to avoid photographing participants displaying the sticker.

We are committed to respecting participants' wishes whenever reasonably possible. Because this is a participatory workshop festival, it may not always be possible to avoid incidental appearances in wide-angle photos of classes, concerts, or community gatherings. To help us, we kindly ask participants to be mindful of the camera and, where possible, step out of the frame if they prefer not to be photographed.

We also ask all participants to be considerate when taking their own photos. If possible, please ask permission before posting recognizable images of other participants on social media, especially photos taken during workshops or informal gatherings.

If you have any questions or concerns during the festival, please speak with someone at the Check-in desk, or ask one of Mayne's ClusterPluckers. We want everyone to feel welcome, comfortable, and respected.
